DR. E. T. WASGATT,
(From the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery,)
Having had the rooms formerly occupied by him at 21-2 Kenduskeag Bridge,

But which was burned out in the recent fire, repaired, remodeled, and fitted up in the best manner, with all the modern instruments and appliances for the performance of all kinds of operations in Dentistry, begs leave to inform his old friends and patrons, and the public generally, that he is at home again to the same old spot, where he would be happy to see them and wait upon them with anything wanted in the Dentistry line.

He would call special attention to his new apparatus for generating Nitrous Oxide Gas, Sprague's Patent—the only generator that makes a pure and fine gas, and the only one of the kind ever in the city.

He continues also his specialty of administering ether vapor, which is fast taking the place of the old method of inhalation, being entirely safe to the most delicate persons.

Please give him a call at his new rooms.

SPICE FOR THE MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRACY.

The sprightly young standard bearer of Massachusetts Democracy, John Quincy Adams the modern, found it necessary to indulge in some decidedly novel figures of speech to tickle the fancy of his disciples on Wednesday night, at their grand ratification meeting. Mr Adams has acquired considerable reputation for originality and he has certainly succeeded in giving a new interpretation to the name which he bears; but we believe he has never before attempted to make a political point by so grossly insulting memories which are held in peculiar respect by the people of his State and of the whole nation, and which he would be supposed to regard with especial reverence

One can hardly imagine that the ancestors of this "descendant of a noble line" could rest quietly in their graves while a John Quincy Adams, speaking in Faneuil Hall, compared the pioneers of American independence to the cowardly desperadoes of the Ku-Klux Klan We extract the following portion of Mr Adams speech from the Boston Post

Now, we know that fellow "outrage" and his ways by this time as well as we got to know the "intelligent contraband" during the war, and just before election we have become accustomed to look for a good many of him But supposing for the sake of argument that they were bona fide outrages—supposing that they were as genuine outrages as the people of Boston were guilty of in old Colonial times Imagine that the Ku-Klux were as rough as the mob which sacked Gov Hutchinson's house, and broke open and ravaged the dwellings of Storer and Hallowell—"loyal" men and office holders, or as lawless as the men who threw the tea into the harbor down to low lucre or helped Attucks stomp the "lobsterbacks" over in King street, yondor Let us assume, for instance, that they love "reconstruction" and "disfranchisement" and negro aristocracy just as well as our fathers liked King George and "taxation without representation" and the British aristocracy and are as "loyal" in that kind of thing as Sam Adams or John Hancock

This is pretty strong talk for a Boston audience, but Mr Adams entertained his listeners with many other equally original and astonishing views upon matters pertaining to the present political situation, which accomplished their apparent object of soliciting rounds of applause. It seems marvellous that the leader of a great political party in the State of Massachusetts should be able to command the attention, much less the approval, of an assemblage of citizens while uttering such a mass of palpable misrepresentations and meaningless political clap-trap, as the key-note of a political campaign Here is what he stated with reference to Pennsylvania and New York, to men, some of whom are able to read the papers and inform their less intelligent neighbors what is going on in the country

Whole companies of soldiers at the polls were hardly sufficient to repress the unreasonable desire of Pennsylvania to be rid of her officious benefactors, and ten thousand United States troops have been assembled to make sure that New York is thrust back under the servitude she had escaped If, after all, this display of force be needful only to preserve their dominion now that they are in, they may as well set it down as sure that we shall not reinstate them if the people cast them out, unless the faction of force compel us by arms

The casting of such utterly unwarrantable imputations upon the efforts of the constituted authorities to protect the purity of the ballot is in harmony with the new Democratic idea of a Government by the Grace of Repeaters," but we cannot think of J Q as delivering himself of the above in the face and eyes of a crowd of the "unterrified," without dipping his auditors a sly wink of intelligence, or embellishing its connection with a knowing smile To "repress" the unreasonable desire of Pennsylvania to be rid of her officious benefactors is an ingenious metaphorical allusion to the arrest of Democratic ballot-stuffers and electioneering pluglugglies but the idea of thrusting New York back under the "servitude she had escaped" must have been pretty tough to swallow, even at a grand rally The picture of those long suffering metropolitans driven at the point of ruthless Federal bayonets away from the genial terms and tender care of Tweed and Sweeny would draw tears from the eyes of a Fulton Market oyster and Mr Adams should have spared his hearers the mention of such a heart-rending possibility That sort of talk may answer the purpose of filling out an evening's programme; but if Mr Adams expects to inspire confident in his sagacity or candor he should be careful to deliver such harangue in future only to assemblages of a very Young Democracy

The Democrat this week, presents its fellow-sufferers with a detailed account of the obsequies of that Confederate soldier whose temporary successes afforded their only joy, and whose frequent defeats, and final overthrow filled their hearts with sorrow. It is an evidence of rare consistency that not even blighted Congressional aspirations can tender it oblivious to other griefs, and that the Democrat wavers not in its allegiance, but follows its revered chieftain with loyalty to the grave

In this duty of devotion it is aided by another congenial spirit, and we notice with admiration that the brilliant intellect whose effervescence we have so long missed from the special columns of the Boston Post, has only been restraining its possibilities to burst upon us in a blaze of poetic coruscations as a sort of pyrotechnic tail-piece to the Democrat's apotheosis of General Lee

The Boston Advertiser, referring to the recent bank robbery at Grafton, Mass, and the failure to capture the burglars, says "It is probably useless to hope that the cool cracksmen, who have done this uncommonly neat job in the highest line of their profession, should be captured before they can get out of the State But we sigh for that lucky day when just such a gang of rogues shall be caught and convicted of their crime, and when Massachusetts, pluck shall treat them as the Bowdoinham robbers have been treated in Maine, rejecting all the propositions of compromise, that justice may be done, and the Commonwealth earn the precious reputation of being an ineligible field for such considerations as these gentry carry on with society in almost all parts of the country"

How Tammany protects its own is illustrated by the facts stated in a New York dispatch, that an application will be made at once for the release of Theodore Allen, arrested for violation of the election law, and that Jaquis and Murphy, the two Tammany Inspectors in the 16th ward, charged with illegally permitting persons to register, were promptly furnished with $15,000 and $10,000 bail respectively, for their appearance for trial.

THE PENNSYLVANIA GAS WELLS. The city of Erie, Pa., was lighted on Wednesday night by natural gas obtained by the Erie Gas Company from a well near their works. Thirteen gas wells are now in successful operation in various parts of the city, used mostly to furnish fuel and light to manufacturers. The gas is found at an average depth of 550 feet, and the average yield per well per day is upwards of 20,000 cubic feet. It requires no purifying and it is being rapidly introduced into private houses. Every well thus far has proved a success.

THE GREAT TAMMANY RALLY. The Tammany demonstration in New York Thursday evening was one of the most extensive political affairs ever witnessed in that city. It is estimated that not less than 150,000 men were in the procession. August Belmont was President of the Central meeting in Tammany Hall, which was addressed by ex-Gov Seymour, representative Kerr, of Indiana, Wm M. Tweed, and others. Several outdoor meetings were also in progress at the same time, during which Union Square and the adjacent streets for a considerable distance were densely packed with people The presence of U S troops on election day furnished the speakers a theme for stirring appeals to the Democracy, to maintain the rights of citizens, and as our dispatch with unintentional candor states "to prevent the purity of the suffrage despite all intimidation by the Federal Government"

ANOTHER DESTRUCTIVE HURRICANE IN CUBA. Late Havana advices give accounts of a second hurricane throughout the Vuelta Abajo region, on the 19th and 20th inst. The force of the storm passed over Havana at a considerable altitude, and little damage was done to the buildings, but considerable to the shipping The storm made terrible havoc in the vicinity of Guanajay and the villages in the district of San Cristobal were entirely swept away Four of the cities on the south coast have suffered greatly At Batabono the water rose fifteen feet, flooding the greater portion of the town and causing great injury to houses and trees Steamers anchored in that port got up steam and left their anchorage, taking refuge in the keys near the bay The best tobacco-producing districts of the Vuelta Abajo Pinar del Rio, Mantua and Bayo Honda are yet to be heard from and it is feared that they have been scourged even worse than the districts of San Cristobal Guanajay and San Antonio Storm observations taken at the College of Belin locates the centre of the hurricane near Pinar del Rio—Captain-General De Rodas has ordered $100,000 to be paid for the relief of the sufferers in Matanzas. The total damage by these hurricanes is estimated at $27,000,000

IRON THE FISHING GROUNDS Captain Henry Wilson commanding, the Frolic and Senior officer of Squadron, lately stationed on the fishing bank reports that five American vessels were seized for violation of the law, by being engaged in fishing within prohibited limits At one time there were 11 British sloops-of-war in the vicinity of the grounds, some of which were from the West Indies, having come North to refit or to supplies Nothing of an unpleasant character occurred between the commanders of vessels of the two countries, and all their intercourse was in a friendly spirit The catch was not so favorable as that of former seasons, although some American fishermen did well

THE U S STEAMER SHENANDOAH. The Secretary of the Navy stated on Thursday, that the Shenandoah was authorized to touch at Madeira or the Azores She had orders to proceed to her destination under sail, but could use coal in case of emergency He reported that he had no apprehension as to her safety, but that some weeks must necessarily elapse from the time of her departure from Boston, owing to the imperfect mail accommodations, before accounts could be received concerning her

A later telegram from New York, reports the Shenandoah in safety, as follows —A dispatch dated Lisbon 24th inst, has been received from one of the officers of the U S Steamer Shenandoah announcing her safe arrival at that port.

PHILLIPS AND TRUMBULL ON THE PRESIDENT. A correspondent of the New York Herald had a conversation with Wendell Phillips a few days ago, in the course of which the latter expressed the following opinion of President Grant

He is the strongest man in the country today Grant has the character and the average brain which represents the loyalty and intelligence of the American people If Chase had the character of Grant, and the Democratic party had the sense, he might have been President, but Chase has no character, his party had no confidence in him and did not know where to find him Grant is not a brilliant nor a popular man, but brilliant and popular men within have never been elected to the chief magistracy. Calhoun and Clay were strong in their respective parties but neither could secure the confidence of the mass of the people. Webster was popular and brilliant but he too was a failure—Douglas, with his bright and trenchant intellect and unbounded popularity, was defeated by the lonely, unpopular Abraham Lincoln The American people look more to character than to brains and brilliancy—Grant could never win such love and admiration as were given to Washington or the First Napoleon but he can make sure of that confidence from the people which means that they believe the honor and interests of the nation are safe in his hands This is what I mean by character

Senator Trumbull in a speech delivered in Illinois last week, referred to the President's follows

You have as Chief Magistrate of the nation a man whose military fame is co-extensive with the civilized world and yet he is a man of singular simplicity of manners, and bears all his honors without the least display or pretention A thoroughly honest man himself he expects and exacts honesty and fidelity from those under him who are charged with the conduct of public affairs During his administration, the public debt of the nation has been reduced more than $125,000,000 during the present year taxes have been reduced $78,000,000, and greater efficiency has been introduced into the revenue service in all its branches, and you yourselves know that the country is generally prosperous and progressing

BUSINESS OF THE P O DEPARTMENT. The forthcoming annual report of Postmaster General Cresswell, for the fiscal year ending June last will show that the receipts from sales of stamps, stamped envelopes and wrappers have been $16 581,000, an increase over the previous year of $1,400,000 and that the total cost of transporting the mails, including the compensation of route agents, passengers and other official transits, was $12,555,548, an increase over the previous year of $378,152 The length of the routes, however, was 251 232 miles, or 7,507 miles greater than in 1869 Aggregate distance of transportation, 97,021,996 miles, an increase of 6,801,593 miles The money orders issued represented $84,054,990 being over $9,000,000 more than the previous year's business Orders paid represented $81-000,000 After paying expenses there was a net profit of $900,000. The number of post offices in the United States, June 30, was 24,402, established during the year, 2,869, discontinued, 652, domestic letters during the year, 3,082,045, an increase over the previous year of 4 68-100 per cent., foreign letters received, 220,475, an increase of 14 9 100 per cent

Total receipts of the department from postages, standing appropriations for free mail service, and special subsidies for steamship lines, $21,184,720 05, disbursements of all kinds, $23,968,897 03, excess of disbursements over receipts, representing the actual cost to the Treasury for postal service, $2,814,176 98. Of appropriations to meet deficiencies in the revenue of the department for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1870, there was undrawn at the close of the year, $4,740,000. Estimated amount required to meet balances due on June 30, 1870, but not yet adjusted or reported for settlement, $2,636,728 18. Balance of deficiency appropriation unused, after paying all claims of the year, $2,474,274 87 Increase of ordinary receipts, as compared with the year ending June 30, 1869, $1,268,214 08, or 7 78 per cent. Increase of expenditures, as compared with the year ended June 30, 1869, $300,706 23, or 1.32 per cent.

THE STEAMBOAT RACES. The steamboat Lee's time from New Orleans to Natchez, on Thursday, was 16 hours, 30 minutes and 47 seconds—beating the time of the Natchez 11 minutes and 43 seconds We shall soon hear their beating this rate of speed in a vertical direction if the racing mania is kept up

SENATOR MORTON AND THE ENGLISH MISSION. In Senator Morton's letter declining the English mission, he says to the President that he owed his seat in the Senate to the Republicans of Indiana, and that it would be bad faith to them to resign at a time when it would pass to a man inimical to their principles and hostile to the administration. The President answered the letter as follows

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
Washington, D C, Oct 21, 1870

Hon O P Morton,

Dear Sir,—Your letter of the 19th inst but, declining the English mission, with reasons therefor, is received. I fully concur with you in all the reasons which you give for the course which you find it your duty to pursue in the matter, but regret that the country is not to have your valuable services at the English Court, at this important juncture Your course, however, I deem wise, and I will be highly appreciated by your constituents in Indiana, and throughout the country. With assurances of my highest regard,

I remain truly your obedient servant,
U S GRANT

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

THE SURRENDER OF BAZAINE.

A Report that He Attempted to Make Peace.

The Occupation of Metz and Strasbourg to Secure the Withdrawal of the Prussian Armies.

OTHER ACCOUNTS of THE SURRENDER.

Bazaine Granted the Same Terms Given to McMahon.

NAPOLEON III. TO BE REMOVED TO ELBA.

THE LOSSES OF THE ARMY OF PRINCE FREDERICK CHARLES.

THE SURRENDER OF BAZAINE—HE ASSUMES THE ROLE OF PEACEMAKER.

Oxford, Oct 27 The statement is received [illegible] Le Haut, to the effect that upon [illegible] forming the session of French terri- [illegible] to be a party to any scheme involving [illegible] terrible outbreak of civil war in France, Bazaine exclaimed that he would take all the [illegible] responsibility himself. This was on Tuesday night. Bazaine immediately sent a messenger through his lines to Prince Frederick Charles at Pont-a-Mousson. The Prince [illegible] during the night to Chateau de [illegible], where the surrender, stipulations were signed for the surrender of the [illegible] Bazaine and the Fortress of Metz.

DETAILS OF GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Telegram adds that Gen. De Cotlinieres, commandant of the garrison of Metz, entered [illegible] protest against the surrender, declaring that he was abundantly able to protect the defence into the winter; that the present defects of the Germans made it practically impossible for them to imperil the possession of the place, and that provisions were [illegible] both for the army and population. Since the 15th of October the inhabitants had received daily rations of 400 grammes of bread for adults, 200 for children and 100 for infants.

THE LOSSES OF THE BESIEGERS.

A correspondent says that the total loss of the army of Prince Frederick Charles from the beginning of the siege, is estimated at 17,000 men by battle and disease. The army of Prince Frederick Charles consisted on the 20th of October of the 1st, 2d, 3d, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th army corps, with two divisions of Landwehr attached to the 9th army corps, making a total of 160,000 men, artillery and cavalry included.

BAZAINE'S ALLEGED STIPULATIONS FOR PEACE—THE SURRENDER OF METZ CONSIDERED IN THE WITHDRAWAL OF THE PRUSSIAN ARMIES FROM FRANCE.

London, Oct. 27. The surrender of Bazaine is stated was made upon a full understanding that the Prussian Government that the [illegible] of Metz and Strasburg shall be [illegible] as an adequate basis for withdrawal [illegible] German armies from France and con- [illegible] peace.

THE MARSHAL DENOUNCED AS AN IMPERIALIST.

The Republicans in London loudly declare [illegible] Wishal a traitor; that he concocted this [illegible] with Prince Napoleon, the Empress [illegible] William, and that the Government [illegible] Paris and Tours will repudiate any peace [illegible] signed by him. Inspite of the [illegible] about the surrender of Metz, the French [illegible] has advanced in price all day. [illegible] arranging for the expenditure of a [illegible] amount of the loan in the purchase of [illegible] Birmingham.

OTHER ACCOUNTS OF THE SURRENDER.

London, Oct. 27. A correspondent telegraphs from Metz on the 20th inst., that Gen. Coffinieres, commandant of Metz, informed Marshal Bazine, five days before, that he could supply no more provisions for the army encamped outside. On Monday p. m., Bazaine having convinced Coffinieres that it was useless to attempt to cut their way through the Prussian lines, a messenger was sent to Prince Frederick Charles, intimating the intention of the fortress to capitulate. This was the first proposition ever made for including the fortress and outside army. Accordingly, at midnight, the Prussian troops which had been massed silently towards Gravellotte, received orders to retire to their camps. Yesterday p. m. Changarnier, with a Plenipotentiary from Bazaine with the Prince. By an [illegible] agreement at this meeting, Gen. Schels, Col Von Herzmirgor, Chief of Staff, and the Quartermaster-General of the Prince's army, rode to the Fresceti Chateau, three miles south of Metz, whither the two French Commanders with Humbertz in command of the fortress had been brought by the Prussian field [illegible]. The meeting lasted from 6 to 7 o'clock in the evening and resulted only in [illegible] with an agreement that the disputed points were to be rediscussed this noon. Matters were so far advanced that the 2d corps received marching orders for Paris yesterday [illegible] and started early in the evening. The other troops were concentrated at the nearest [illegible] points to Metz last night to prevent [illegible] en masse.

ADVICES FROM VERSAILLES.

London, Oct. 28. The correspondent of the Times telegraphs the following from Versailles, under the date of Oct. 27: It will be a few days yet before the Germans will be [illegible] ready to bombard Paris. In the action of the 26th twenty-five battalions took part, supported by twelve batteries of artillery.

THE TERMS OFFERED BAZAINE.

Bazaine was recently informed that he could only have the terms which were accorded to McMahon at Sedan.

There are over 2,000 sick and wounded French and German soldiers in and around Versailles.

The forts Vanves, Montrouge and Bicetre are now connected by strong earthworks.

EXECUTION OF CITIZENS.

Twenty citizens of Bougel have been executed by the Prussians for aiding the French in the sorties from Paris.

There was a skirmish between the reconnoitering parties on the left bank of the Loire, near Orleans, yesterday. Both parties retired.

CAPTURE OF A PROVISION TRAIN.

London, Oct. 28. On Sunday, a Prussian provision train near Vouziores was attacked by Franc-tireurs who killed the escort and captured the stores. They had also killed 50 white cuirassers near Oligy.

There is a force of 2500 Prussians before Mezieres. Active operations, however, have not been commenced, as the siege guns have not arrived.

A recent arrival from the west coast of Africa announces that the French frigate Villo Ponte captured the German vessel Hero near Banana Islands, Sept. 17. The prize had 700 barrels of gunpowder on board.

NAPOLEON GOING TO ELBA FOR HIS HEALTH.

ADDRESSES. Rev. S. S. Cummings, Missionary Agent for the Baldwin Place Home for Little Wanderers, Boston, Mass., will address the friends of homeless and neglected children at the Methodist Chapel on Pine St. Sunday forenoon; at the First Baptist church in the afternoon and at the Universalist Church in the evening. Interesting and touching incidents, illustrating the work of the "Home," will be related. A choir of children from the Home will be present, and sing some choice pieces of music. This institution is intended to be a New England Home for Wanderers. It receives and welcomes every homeless child, without regard to its creed, nationality, or where it comes from. More than half the children it has placed in homes for the last three years have come from outside of Boston. Since May, 1865, 2,700 children have been received and cared for, 800 of that number the children of deceased soldiers. The work is not sectarian; six leading denominations of Christians are represented on its Board, and the institution is supported entirely by voluntary charity.

A SAD MISTAKE. A correspondent says a man in a town not far from Bangor thought he discovered signs of robbers about his house on a dark night recently, and, after arming his household with guns and pistols, led them forth in column to protect his premises against midnight intruders. Marching them quietly around the house, a suspicious noise overhead in the thick branches of a tree brought a sudden halt. The squad stood motionless with suspense, while their leader reconnoitered. He soon became convinced that he had his man in a tree, and, after drawing up his force in battle array, ordered the enemy to descend and surrender. But the treed robber said not a word and gave no sign of his presence. Our farmer was made of sterner stuff than the man who attempted to bring the boy out of his orchard tree by throwing handfulls of grass at him. He wheeled his body-guard into position, ordered them to take deliberate aim into the tree, and at the fearful word of command a volley of shot and bullets tore through it, branches, when from the thick foliage, which had hidden it from view, down tumbled the unsuspected body of a big Shanghae rooster. There was no use in the table of that hotel at the next meal.

CRUSH OF THE KEARSARGE. We were sorry to see so many present in Norombega Hall last evening, for the lecture by Mr. Paymaster Smith was well worth a long journey to hear. About 200 were present, however, and all join in giving the lecture unqualified praise. Mr. Smith is a paymaster in the Regular Navy, and was in board the Kearsarge during the cruise in which that vessel captured and sank the Alabama. He participated in the engagement which the lecture describes, him-self commanding a division. He gave a rapid review of the cruise of the Kearsarge previous to the battle, and of her reception at the Spanish, French, English and other ports which she visited; the blockade of the Florida, Sumter and Rappahannock, and a vivid description of the battle off Cherbourg. This brilliant victory, the most dramatic episode of the war on the part of our Navy, was described by Mr. Smith in glowing and picturesque language, which, aided by documentary ability of a high order, deeply interested the audience, who testified their appreciation by frequent applause. We hope some arrangement may be made to have the lecture repeated in this city. Should it be, it will, we have no doubt, be listened to by a full house.

Before the lecture, last evening, a detachment of the Janes Guards—under whose auspices the lecture was delivered—gave a short exhibition drill, which excelled all their former efforts.

—The new organ in Portland Masonic Hall was dedicated Thursday evening by a musical entertainment which was largely attended. The organ cost over $2000 and was paid for by a subscription obtained principally through the exertions of Wm. Rees, Jr., a prominent Mason of that city. MY BABES IN THE WOOD.

BY MRS E M EARLY

I know a story fairer dimmer sadder,
'If an any story painted in your books,
Yet one so glad? It will make you gladder,
Yes listen, with your pretty, restless looks.

Is it a fairy story?" Well, half fairy—
At least it dates for babes of tender do,
And seems to those beautiful and airy
Not half, perhaps the fairy half is true.

You had a baby sister and a brother,
Two very dainty people, rosy white,
Sweeter than all things else exceptioach other!
Older yet youngor—gone from human sight!

And I, who loved them, and shall love them ever,
And think with yearning tears how each light hand
Crept toward bright bloom and berries—I shall never Know how I lost them! Do you understand?

Poor slightly golden heads! I think I raise them
First in some dreamy, piteous, doubtful way;
But when and where with lingering lips I kissed them
My greatest parting I can never say

Sometimes I fancy that it may have perished
In sin so very sore of wet looks and moss
Near paths where very pebble I have cherished
For their small sakes, since my most bitter loss.

I fancy, too, that they were softly covered
By robing out of ripple flowers they know
Whose nursing wings in far home sunshine hovered,
Before it o timid world had dropped the dew

Their names were—what yours are At this you wonder
Their features are—your own. As you have seen
As I my bird buried darlings, hidden under
Lost leaves—so this is dear shall leave I mean!

Ammonia is one of the handiest articles to have about the house Fifteen cents expended at an apothecary's will get a phial full, enough to do good service about the house in many ways For washing paint put a tablespoonfulin a quart of moderately hot water, dip in a flannel cloth, and with it simply wipe off the wood work, no scrubbing will be necessary. For taking grease spots from any fabric, use the ammonia nearly pure, then lay white blotting paper over the spot and iron it lightly. In washing laces, put about twelve drops in a pint of warm suds To clean silver, mix two teaspoonfuls of ammonia in a pint of hot soap-suds, put in your silver-ware and wash it, using an old nail-brush or toothbrush for the purpose. For cleaning hairbrushes, &c., simply shake the brush up and down in a mixture of one teaspoonful of ammonia to one pint of hot water; when they are cleaned, rinse them in cold water and stand them in the wind or in a hot place to dry For washing finger marks from mirrors or windows, put a few drops of ammonia on a moist rag and make quick work of it. If you want your house plants to flourish, put a few drops of the spirits in every pint of water used in watering. A teaspoonful in a basin of cold water will add much to the refreshing effects of a bath, nothing is better than ammonia water for cleaning the hair. In every case, rinse off the ammonia with clear water.

THE BEST SITE FOR AN ORCHARD—Dodart first observed that trees pushed their branches in a direction parallel to the surface of the earth. If a tree stands on a steep hillside it pushes both toward the hill and the declivity; but on both sides it still preserves its branches parallel to the surface As there is attraction between the upper surface of leaves and light, we are also persuaded, and more than that, certain, of it from experiment that there is an attraction of the same nature between the under surfaces and the earth. This we consider the true cause of the phenomenon; we had long observed that the best fruit in orchards and most fertile trees are those placed on a declivity and the steeper it is though not quite a precipice, the more prolific they prove It is well known that the spreading of trees always renders them fruitful. On a plane they incline to shoot upward; and therefore art is employed by skilful gardeners, and applied in various ways to check their perpendicular and promote their lateral growth But this point is obtained on a declivity by nature

A St Paul papers describes an extraordinary scene, probably the first of the kind ever witnessed in this country—the naturalization of fifty-one Indians of the Winnebago tribe The enfranchisement of the several tribes of Indians in this State did not require any action on the part of the general government, but for those of the race who are under the direct care of the nation there has been no opportunity to become citizens with the rights to vote, until the recent act of Congress on the subject of naturalization The candidates are required merely to answer all the questions put to persons of foreign birth desiring to become citizens, but to show that they have adopted the customs of civilized life, and are prudent and able to take care of themselves. In the party of fifty-one who have just become citizens in Minnesota, was one woman of one hundred and four who became with children of three generations—One of the Indians is reputed to be a son of the late General Twiggs The object of the Indians in becoming naturalized was to acquire the title to their land which as Indians located upon a reservation they could hold temporarily Unfortunately, the number of Indians who will take advantage of the newly-conferred privilege of throwing off the guardianship of the nation and becoming a part of it is likely to be small for several years to come.—[Ex

THE JUMEL WILL CASE—The long contested Jumel will case in the New York courts afforded an opportunity last week for a passage at arms between the counsel—George, the Court Joannes, for the plaintiffs, and Charles O'Conor the celebrated counsellor, for the defendants—which is thus reported in the Herald —The Count after reading his complaint, which occupied two hours, and the defendant's answer, which consumed another, made an opening speech of immense length, full of history, skilled mimicry, eulogy, poetry, rhapsody and impassioned appeal, introduced evidence, when Mr O Conor he had anything to say, quietly replied nothing "You can't say so to the Count, with fiery eye, look, salvage of fist pr making of hat will, you got dollars for your pay like a bee," with coolly impressive answered Mr O'Conor, rising so many other lies that have by the counsel to-day. The n brought by the heirs of Madame Jumel, to set ment made by them with Nel eiving their interest in Madame to Mr Clarke for $40,000 on of fraud, and was decided by dismissing the complaint with laintiffs failing to prove fraud nd also granting an allowance to defendants

WOMAN.
Females, owing to the peculiar and important relations which they sustain, their peculiar organization, and the offices they perform, are subject to many sufferings Freedom from these contributes in no small degree to their happiness and welfare, for none can be happy who are ill Not only so, but no one of these various female complaints can long be suffered to run on without involving the general health of the individual, and one long producing permanent sickness and premature decline Nor is it pleasant to consult a physician for the relief of these delicate affections, and only upon the most urgent necessity will a true woman so far sacrifice her greatest charm as to do this The sex will then thank us for placing in their hands simple specifics which will be found efficacious in relieving and curing almost every one of those troublesome complaints peculiar to the sex
Helmbold's Extract Buchu.
Hundreds suffer on in silence and hundreds of others apply vainly to druggists and doctors, who either merely tantalize them with the hope of a cure or apply remedies which make them worse I would not wish to assert anything that would do injustice to the afflicted but I am obliged to say that although it may be pro luced from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment unwholesome or improper food, profuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent child birth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vaginal tract
When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely affect the life health, and happiness of woman in all classes of society, and which, consequently, affect more or less directly the welfare of the entire human family Like mists that exists for precocious education and marriage, causes the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the restraints of dress the confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball room Thus, with the body half clothed, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure perverting in mi night revel the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished
In consequence of this early strain upon her system unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day thus aggravating the evil When one excitement is over, another in prospective keeps the mind horribly sensitive to impression, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength the exposure to night air the sudden change of temperature, the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect At last an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the infant taste one, hitherto so utterly regardless of the plain dictates and remonstrances of her delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women
Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the generative organs they require an education of their peculiar nervous system composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breasts and lips, sublimely under the control of mental emotions and associations at an early period of life and as we shall subsequently see these emotions when excessive, tend, long before puberty, to inflict which sap the very life of their victims ere nature has self completed their development
For Female Weakness and Debility, Whites or Leucorrhœa Profuse Menstruation, Exhaustion Irritation Unnatural Periods, for Prolapsus and Bearing Down or Prolapsus Uteri, we offer the most

TO THE PUBLIC.
HAVING added medical department to my business, and engaged the services of a Physician of long standing and extensive practice in the treatment of Female Complaints, I would call the attention of the public to the card in another column, and ask for it a careful perusal. I would not wish to assert anything that could do injustice to the afflicted but I am obliged to say that although it may be produced from excessive exhaustion of the powers of life, by laborious employment unwholesome or improper food, profuse menstruation, the use of tea and coffee, and frequent child birth, it is far oftener caused by direct irritation, applied to the mucous membrane of the vaginal tract
When reviewing the causes of these distressing complaints it is most painful to contemplate the attendant evils consequent upon them It is but simple justice to the subject to enumerate a few of the many additional causes which so largely affect the life health, and happiness of woman in all classes of society, and which, consequently, affect more or less directly the welfare of the entire human family Like mists that exists for precocious education and marriage, causes the years that nature designed for corporeal development to be wasted and perverted in the restraints of dress the confinement of school, and especially in the unhealthy excitement of the ball room Thus, with the body half clothed, and the mind unduly excited by pleasure perverting in midnight revel the hours designed by nature for sleep and rest, the work of destruction is half accomplished
In consequence of this early strain upon her system unnecessary effort is required by the delicate votary to retain her situation in school at a later day thus aggravating the evil When one excitement is over, another in prospective keeps the mind horribly sensitive to impression, while the now constant restraint of fashionable dress absolutely forbidding the exercise indispensable to the attainment and retention of organic health and strength the exposure to night air the sudden change of temperature, the complete prostration produced by excessive dancing, must, of necessity, produce their legitimate effect At last an early marriage caps the climax of misery, and the infant taste one, hitherto so utterly regardless of the plain dictates and remonstrances of her delicate nature, becomes an unwilling subject of medical treatment. This is but a truthful picture of the experience of thousands of our young women
Long before the ability to exercise the functions of the generative organs they require an education of their peculiar nervous system composed of what is called the tissue, which is, in common with the female breasts and lips, suddenly under the control of mental emotions and associations at an early period of life and as we shall subsequently see these emotions when excessive, tend, long before puberty, to inflict which sap the very life of their victims ere nature has self completed their development
